

Evergreen Medical Technologies

Source Integration™

Evergreen Medical Technologies' Source Integration is the process of combining the best possible expertise into an integrated team or partnership for the maximum success of a project. Sources of expertise for a project may be within a company or maybe from external consultants or companies that have expertise in a particular topic. A team that can only be assembled with internal members may not have the best expertise necessary for the success of the project. A team assembled under Evergreen Medical's Source Integration model will consist of the best available expertise which increases the potential for an optimal outcome.